The secretive Bilderberg Group has a new co-chair of its 'Steering Committee', in the figure of the former Norwegian Prime Minister and former NATO Secretary General Jens Stoltenberg.

The Bilderberg is one of the most mysterious, and therefore most mythologized elite groups on the Planet.

The Conspiracy Theories involving the group are numerous: to begin with, it is said that it works towards establishing a 'New World Order', representing a danger to national sovereignty and democracy.

It is also said that the group is a 'global kingmaker.'

It is indeed a historical fact that one of its founders, Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands, was directly linked to the Nazi party, which would explain the group's inclination towards authoritarian control.

There are also assertions that the Bilderberg instigated major global events, from wars to economic crises, all to serve their agenda.

And the list would not be complete without the lore popularized by David Icke, claiming that the Bilderberg members are of a reptilian race that interbred with humans to control planetary events.

The Bilderberg Group is now reshuffling itself, as 47th US President Donald J. Trump gears up to return to the White House.

The leaders in politics, industry, academia and the military have selected Stoltenberg to chair its 'Steering Committee'.

"Founded in 1954, the Bilderberg group has long drawn fascination for its clandestine meetings at exclusive hotels and alpine resorts where attendees hold discussions on international relations, economics and security.

Heads of the CIA and MI6 have been among its members, while Henry Kissinger was a regular alongside the likes of Bill Clinton, Bill Gates and then-Prince Charles."

Stoltenberg arrives as Trump is set to enact his promises of no longer spend billions in US taxpayer money to fund other countries' wars.

"Stoltenberg's tenure at NATO was dominated by the Russia-Ukraine conflict and he proudly claimed to have overseen 'the largest reinforcement of our collective defense in a generation.' Many of his Bilderberg colleagues have benefited from this increased defense spending. Among them is Trump insider Peter Thiel, boss of AI giant Palantir, whose technology has been used by Ukraine in the fight against Putin."

The secretive society avoids interaction with the press and keeps the details of its meetings secret, while Stoltenberg is an expert in dealing with the media.

"Stoltenberg will co-chair the steering committee alongside Canadian-American economist, philanthropist, Marie-Josée Kravis who sits on the board of Publicis, one of the world's largest PR and communications companies.”

Other important Bilderberger is Peter Thiel, co-founder of PayPal and Palantir Technologies. A supporter of Trump, His proximity to Vice President-elect J.D. Vance, a former employee of Thiel's Mithril Capital.

The Daily Mail report sees him in a unique position 'as Bilderberg recalibrates for Trump's 'America First' agenda'.

“This cabal of the global, largely liberal, elite – with strong ties to the EU – meets every year amid a cloak of secrecy, but Stoltenberg's appointment as co-chair also reflects the group's strategic realignment amid rising geopolitical tensions.”

The group prepares for its next meeting in Stockholm, with a focus will focus on defense spending and transatlantic cooperation.

“So clandestine are the Bilderberg gatherings that no minutes are taken, no press conferences given and no reports published. The conference operates under 'Chatham House Rules', which means participants can use and report information exchanged there, but not disclose the source.”
