President Trump Has Exposed the U.S Side of the Proxy War by Disabling Ukraine Access to U.S. Missile and Drone Targeting Systems

March 6, 2025 | Sundance | 507 Comments

The media have not, and in most cases cannot, factually discuss what President Trump has just done without opening up a major can-of-worms about the motives behind the Ukraine war.

When President Trump stopped “intelligence sharing” with Ukraine, what he technically did was stop allowing Ukraine to use exclusive USA targeting systems controlled by U.S Intelligence, the CIA, the National Reconnaissance Office and the U.S. National Geospatial Intelligence Agency.

These terrain mapping systems, the missile and drone targeting systems, are what military forces inside Ukraine need to carry out offensive drone and missile attacks against Russian forces.

Some elements in Western Intel are leaking to media that Trump only cut-off the targeting system that would permit Ukraine to hit deep into Russian territory, including in Russia proper. However, the ‘Russian territory’ as seemingly defined by the National Security Council includes most of Eastern Ukraine now.

In essence and material reality, the elements in Ukraine who are conducting war, and this includes U.K and U.S special forces, the CIA and various NATO allied military operators (not Ukraine military) can no longer effectively hit long-range Russian targets, without the U.S. targeting system that identifies it.

The real-time sharing of military grade GPS encryption keys has been stopped by the U.S. Commander in Chief, President Trump. Effective immediately without targeting system access, ATACMS, HIMARS, Storm Shadow and Taurus missile systems are no longer functional to those Ukraine operators (remember, those operators are not necessarily Ukrainian).

Additionally, the drones that Ukraine has been using also rely on the same accurate, real-time, terrain-mapping satellite data that transmits back to the guidance systems. Without the U.S. encryption keys, what the media is obtusely calling “intelligence sharing,” all of the aforementioned attack systems are rendered moot. THIS IS HUGE.

The part that is really interesting to those who have followed the events of the past three years, is literally who has been in control of and deploying these missile and drone attack systems.

All of the intellectually honest researchers know that it is the USA (special forces) and to a lesser extent the collaborating U.K (special forces) who have been operating these systems. Yes, they have been training Ukrainians, but they damned sure are not giving them the highly classified and tightly controlled encryption keys within the targeting system.

In reality, this means the USA/UK are the forces doing the actual fighting of consequence against Russia in the geography of Ukraine. A true and genuine proxy war between NATO and Russia has been ongoing. This stoppage of the missile/drone targeting system by President Trump is factually exposing this proxy war reality.

In the background of what President Trump is doing the NATO alliance, CIA and EU global intelligence operators well understand the ramifications. However, to discuss them openly is to expose the reality that US/UK/NATO have been controlling the war in Ukraine against Russia. Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy is an irrelevant puppet to these military decisions, that's why he can travel around doing his insufferable nonsense while a war is waged on his behalf.

Now, think about this dynamic very carefully because now we know President Trump and President Putin are talking to each other.

We know Vladimir Putin is well aware of how the Western targeting system is being used in Ukraine; he has talked about it openly and publicly. However, the West has never admitted it, because to do so would be to inform the public of the proxy war.

After the Biden/Harris team lost the election, on December 21st, 2024, drone attacks were launched from Ukraine into Kazan Russia {GO Deep}. Those attacks were intended to antagonize Russia and provoke a response.

With the new information we now have confirmation that these drone and missile strikes into Russia were factually attacks supported by U.S. targeting systems. The non-pretending reality = The USA attacked Russia using Ukraine.

All of this activity is clouded in this crazy level of pretending that Ukraine is able to defend itself with a little Western support. That has always been nonsense. NATO, the CIA and the global IC has been in control of the war fighting from the outset. Again, all the new information aligns with this now demonstrably accurate reality.

It was the USA who launched the December drone attacks into Kazan, Russia, using the geography of Ukraine as the launch origination. Additionally, it was the USA who recently (Feb 18th) launched drone/missile attacks against Western interests while Secretary Rubio was meeting with Russian emissaries in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia.

Drones from Ukraine attacked a pumping station responsible for transporting oil through the Caspian Pipeline Consortium (CPC). This is not exclusively a Russian oil infrastructure asset. This is partly a western asset belonging to American energy corporations. As noted by Medvedev: “In 2024, American businesses accounted for over 40% of CPC oil shipments, and together with other Western companies, their total share exceeded 65%.”

Now, think carefully about what the Western control elements behind the Ukraine military operations are doing. “They” are, essentially, using U.S. provided military weapons, to target energy infrastructure –ancillary to Russia– that is owned by American corporations. Who are “they”?

Again, step back and look at the larger geopolitical dynamic.

President Trump, and by extension his team, knows the USA has been carrying out the drone/missile attacks from inside Ukraine. President Vladimir Putin, and by extension his team, knows the same.

President Trump is in direct conversation with President Vladimir Putin. Does this put the context of their conversations into a different light?

Everyone behind President Trump has to retain pretenses, or there's going to be a big shit-hitting-fan moment, when a frustrated Trump spills the beans about the USA level of control in the Ukraine v Russia operation.

Knowing the USA/UK/NATO/CIA and Western Intel are conducting the offensive military operations you can only imagine how those "proxy war" control agents are freaked out about Trump and Putin talking to each other.

◆ From the Russian Perspective – In the mind of Putin he now sees President Trump stopping NATO/EU/CIA/UK forces from being able to reach Russia with any attack system.

They don't need to discuss it, and likely would not, but Putin's people clearly can see that Trump's people have stopped the West from their ability to hit Russia with anything.

An unspoken trust is being established through actions, not words. That's a radical shift, and pretty cool all things considered.

Bad actors within the government Donald Trump now represents have attacked Russia. Donald Trump wants it all to stop. Zelenskyy is the front face of the pretense that Donald Trump has to navigate. The UK/NATO/CIA are still propping Zelenskyy up.

◆ WATCH FOR THIS – The U.S. is still sharing the targeting information with the U.K. However, if the NATO/EU/UK/CIA use the targeting system it will be very obvious; attacks against 'Russian territory' be visible. That's all the proof needed.

If any long-range missile/drone operations continue, then someone is violating the Trump order. There is no other way to look at it.

At that point, something rather radical is likely to be announced by President Trump that shreds every facet of the U.S. relationship with NATO, the UK and even the Five-Eyes consortium.

Geopolitically, every player mentioned is well aware of this dynamic. Hence, the apoplexy we are witnessing.

This is a very interesting dynamic to watch closely.

 Volodymyr Zelenskyy / Володимир Зеленський
@ZelenskyyUa  ...

I am grateful to @EmmanuelMacron for his clear vision and our joint efforts to achieve peace. Peace must be real, not just a word—it cannot mean Ukraine’s capitulation or collapse. It must be just, reliable, and lasting, and this can only be achieved through strong and long-term security guarantees — for Ukraine, Europe, and the entire world.

We deeply appreciate the leadership and efforts of all those supporting Ukraine and strengthening Europe’s defense capabilities. Looking forward to working jointly on the steps toward peace in the upcoming days.

I would agree with you EXCEPT these were villains who actually served a purpose holding back groups that were even more evil than themselves.

Mussolini is the perfect example. Popular at first ... gained some with his African adventures and even in 1939 to may 1940. After the British cleaned his clock in North Africa (Operation Compass 1940), The further losses in Africa, the Invasion of Sicily and the Italian 8th Army being destroyed in Russia, the German SS Massacre of Italians in North Italy after he was deposed ... the path to his and his wife's mistress being hung in the plaza was well on it's way.

Z-man is now on the exact same type path of glory to being hung by his own.

The other two never had the glory part and there is their acting as lids on greater evils Z-Man never had.

The same people that “confirmed” that Iraq had WMD’s...

As long as the perceived {narrative/perception management} threat to the US can be projected to be from foreign enemies {Russia, Russia, Russia},

The actual threat from the enemies domestic can be camouflaged.

The United States Of America will never be defeated from without...

And as God is Our witness,

WMD was the BIG LIE put forth by GW Bush to justify attacking Iraq. With this obvious BS by his people ,Bush and his cronies with their silly deck of cards BS to show their power returned all the dead and maimed American boys in the dead of night under darkness and secretly covered by the ever- corrupt news media. P.S. God helps those who help themselves Don’t just trust. You are partially correct. WMDs were found. I was there. However, the WMDs were made in America. In order to shield the USA from embarrassment about that, W agreed to take the hit and go along with the lie that “No WMDs were found in Iraq”. Yes they were, but there are numerous other problems created by the incessant lying of the DemonRats and the deep staters within the US intelligence services and the British MI6.

Don't you get it?? America is NOT attacking Russia. They are PROVIDING armaments to a country attacked without cause. The Russians cannot just be allowed to control Ukraine. I would say that America (President Trump) will accept a Russian proposal to attach the Russian-speaking parts of Ukraine to mother Russia in order to attain peace. Putin may be in control for another 5 years before being toppled by his own people as he approaches 80 years old and diminished cogency.. After all Stalin was only 74 years old when he died and his control and allies disappeared with him. That is called being purged.and it awaits Putin.

The Russians could not allow Ukraine to join NATO. That was plenty causus belli. NATO missiles in Ukraine after the abrogation of the INF treaty was a geo-political no-go for Russia. That along with the staging for attack on ethnic Russians in eastern Ukraine made the SMO necessary. “Attacked without cause” is a canard that won’t fly for anyone with a brain.

FTA: " UKRAINIANS on the frontline are raging after Donald Trump axed sharing intelligence against the Russians – leaving Kyiv's troops "fighting blind".

The intelligence partnership between the US and Ukraine has proven to be vital in saving the lives of not only the troops, but the country's citizens too."

SNIP

"And on Tuesday, the US confirmed it has cut vital intel-sharing with the war-torn nation, hindering Ukraine's battlefield tactics against Russia."

SNIP

"This includes the satellite info needed to use HIMARS.

Both extremities have plunged Ukraine into a level of depression, troops say, as they struggle to find a new motivation to continue in the war and believe the victory will still be on their side.

And furious Ukrainians at the frontline say they are being forced to "fight in darkness".

Yury, a soldier who serves in the Kherson direction, told The Sun: “The most devastating consequences of the intel cuts our guys in the Kursk region face.”

“They were literally left blind there, and they will not be aware anymore of where the danger is going to come from.

“It was unimaginably hard to fight this war before; now it goes to the point even beyond that.

“I am afraid more and more people will refuse to go into the assault now without intel data. It is getting worse with every hour Trump is in power.”

“Tuman, a Ukrainian drone pilot in the Kharkiv direction, told The Sun: ” I have a lack of words; we feel betrayed; we kind of saw it coming, but still it is hard to believe that this is the reality now.

“We still will have some intel from our recon drones, but this is a totally different range, and in the long run, it can turn the tables in Russia’s favor.

“We would not know where they are going to attack from and will not be able to use long-range missiles to prevent these attacks. This is backstabbing.”

Karl Johnson, medic-driver for the 2nd battalion of the Foreign Legion of the Army of Ukraine added: “EU countries are already stepping up intel flights along the borders of the conflict and Russian borders, but it will likely be hard for them to maintain that long term until they expand their capabilities.

“Targeting for long-range strikes will be harder. Now likely reduced to just already known targets. Damage assessments against long-range targets will be reduced to what Russians share.

“Most concerningly, Russian buildups of troops for offensives likely won’t be spotted. “So their offensives will be a surprise. Without us having moved reserves to counter them. Or, having hit troop concentrations and logistics before they launch the offensive.”

“New logistics targets likely won’t be spotted either. We have largely crippled their offensives through these means since receiving HIMARS and expanding Ukraine’s medium-range strike capabilities in other ways.

“The earliest warning for Shahed and missile strikes is likely lost as well. We won’t see Tu-22s taking off.

“With less time to prepare air defenses, they will likely be less effective, and more Russian attacks will succeed.

“America is directly aiding Russia’s genocide.””

Interesting article. Now we wait and see who within the Ukraine governing or military bodies decide they too would prefer peace and create the ouster of Mr. Zelensky or do the ones who want war to continue get the encouragement from the UK/NATO/EU alliance members and create the situation where the world (compromised media) can declare that Trump really is all pro-Russia and is therefore an enemy of the world and the 3rd impeachment actually kicks him out of office – all so they can have their WWII.

Seems like we are on this teeter-totter waiting to see which option happens.

If your intent is to STOP SHOOTING — you've got to take your finger off the trigger ... and that appears to be what POTUS, a.k.a. the Commander-in-Chief, has done ...

I'm a "hawk" on national defense ... BTDT personally and always have been a proponent of a "muscular US military" for over nearly 7 decades and counting ... but IMO, we have no business being involved in this unnecessary war ... none, zero.

Anyone who knows the history of the region, has studied the events of the past 20 +/- years leading up to this conflict, has been there, and is capable of recognizing what a completely corrupt government Ukraine represents would know these things ... Zelenskyy is a "dead man walking" — he's done, toast, finis.

It's Europe's problem ... let them deal with their problems for a change. Oh ... that's right ... they want "Uncle" to fix their mess one (?) more time ... nope; enough is enough.

Fix their mess? Hasn't the US and NATO plan all along to confront and weaken Russia until Putin was was overthrown? Did we not create this mess and the Ukrainians just willing cannon fodder? Why were we pushing Ukraine to become a NATO state fully knowing that was a red line for Putin. Why did we put bio weapon labs on the Russian boarder? Seems there has been a long term strategy to weaken Russia and the US to remove both of them to facilitate the one world order. Trump and Putin stand in their way.

Of course ... I basically have no problem-o with any ... OK just most ... of your points.

Before one can start, an understanding of the fact that NATO (the USA) and the EU (as they are our lap-dog) and the MIC (USA once again) all want WAR with Russia. It's "good for business" — and they actually think "we/they" can win it ... pure madness !!

But what you may be overlooking is the USA in the guise of the CIA and NATO (which, once again, IS the USA) chose to stick our noses into a situation — ONCE AGAIN — I suspect it's like a drug for some in the USA MIC and IC — and get the USA involved — once again in ... wait for it ... wait for it ... INVOLVED IN WHAT HAS HISTORICALLY BEEN A EUROPEAN PROBLEM !!

Not "yelling" ... really, even tho' I'm O-L-D ... just old eyes. (smiles)

Maybe you should study up a bit on the history of the region — ?? And modern geo-political ramifications and the 2014 Minsk Agreements — as well as the not so modern developments and other ethnic related conflicts in the area ???

Just tryin' to help ... and if I'm not understanding you correctly, my fault and I hate the internet for any "real" discussion of most "anything" ...

About 50 minutes after the initial attack it was reported that it was a training camp for mercenaries, so I’m guessing the “trainers” were all Ukrainian and that the 30 foreigners were the mercenaries.

Trump is really doing an amazing job! And Marco Rubio, my new favorite official, said the truth out loud over the weekend, in calling the war “a proxy war between nuclear powers.” Great job... we are getting back on track. Very exciting.

Why would “They” be freaking out? These American IC operatives draw their paycheck in exchange for following the orders of the President. So if Trump is pulling the plug why would they care? Are they in allegiance to someone else?

The point is – Whose orders are they following? Definitely not POTUS Trump. Biden was walking vegetable. A select hierarchy in Congress were most likely very aware. But again, what was the direct chain of command of authority that certainly appeared to be operating outside of Constitutional restraints.

“At that point, something rather radical is likely to be announced by President Trump that shreds every facet of the U.S. relationship with NATO, the UK and even the Five-Eyes consortium.”

If I understand this correctly Trump has flipped the trap. The Bad Actors were using the targeting systems to provoke Russia and initiate WWII, and now Trump is using the targeting systems to provoke the Bad Actors into initiating the meltdown of the Anglo-American Intel-Oligarchy.

I strongly object to letting the traitors to the USA get away with this without the most severe punishment.

Those who ordered this and directly aided in the killing of Russians while hiding America's direct involvement have risked a nuclear world war. The Russians knew all of this.

This truth demands military tribunals for treason of those in the U.S. government behind this. I think the only way forward is to hang as many of those responsible as soon as possible. They are all traitors to the the U.S. Constitution and to the Republic. They risked the deaths of millions of Americans and others throughout the world.

They are worse than ANY murdering illegal immigrants in the United States. The Mexican cartels are nothing compared to these traitorous scoundrels.

This information certainly leads to the question – Who is in charge and basically operating outside of the Constitutional boundaries with respect to the chain of command authority especially when considering the potential of triggering a full on nuclear confrontation? Whomsoever that individual or group of individuals are would and should be subject to the ultimate penalty reserved for treasonous activities without the need for any prolonged judicial proceedings. Bottomline, covert manipulative s–t like this needs to stop.

After reading your explanation of what stopping the military intelligence actually meant yesterday I found it weird listening to the news clips of the State Media Arms discussing their usual orange-man-bad because of this stoppage, they never came close to mentioning the crux of the matter.

Let us see how Putin responds to this overture. Sinking a ship in Odessa’s harbor that was offloading British arms sent one message. Suspending drone and missile attacks deep in Ukrainian territory would be a second.

Fighting blind means that Russia can now move large military units without being detected. So this sets up the possibility of World War II style battles of surprises and maneuver again. This was how the United States fought both wars in Iraq, with the Iraqi's being blind and the Americans knowing the exact location of every Iraqi unit. Russia also enjoyed this advantage in the early days of the SMO and it accounted for the huge Russian advances we saw then.

However, we are in the Rasputitsa season now:

Rasputitsa

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rasputitsa>

Mud and water Russia – Eastern Front

So, there is not much Russia will gain from it other than at the local level. However, after a few weeks of fighting like this it will give Zelensky time to think about what it will be like fighting after the Rasputitsa clears up.

So, about all the U.S. weapons sold on the black market...

Are these weapons, or some of these weapons, the type that need U.S. “intelligence” to launch?

What have these evil people done? It's mind boggling!

You don't really need "intelligence" to launch. You need intelligence to define critical nodes, then determine objectives for the node and effect required (destruction, suppression, etc) to achieve the objective. Once you have that the weaponizing is more about the technical capabilities to achieve the effect. You do need some intel to determine the counter-battery or air defense risk. The actual ordnance has some tactics baked into it and really just needs an aimpoint and possibly some environmental data which can come from anywhere.

Brian Simpson  March 6, 2025 12:31 pm

Our country, Britain and France not only operate the advanced weapon systems directly, they provide the maintenance on these systems.

Including the tanks, aircraft, ect. They also operate the sea borne and long range drones. There was extreme tension with the use of AWACS aircraft over the Black Sea, just another intelligence and target information gathering platform. Along with critical satellite data.

NATO commands the Ukraine military at the strategic level and planned the utterly disastrous Zaporozhe summer offensive.

The Ukraine regime forces never moved past their start positions and were annihilated. Along with the massive loss of NATO equipment and munitions stockpiles.

This was their Stalingrad analogy, NATO lost any ability for strategic offense.

We also planned the disaster of the Kursk offensive which never got close to the objective of the nuclear power plant.

The best units and remaining weapons were pulled from the Donetsk front to be destroyed in Kursk. It is literally a repeat of the WWII Kursk, version 2.0, with Kiev no longer able to hold its' front anywhere.

NATO high commands are pathetic, we need to learn from reality and rehabilitate our military. Get ride of the dozens of 4 Star commands and revamp West Point.

The Russians are masters at war, on the perpetual offensive, normally causing a 3:1 loss ratio against the defense, they are achieving a 10:1 loss ratio against the defense.

Britain was behind the Russia Gate to take out Trump and they sent political operatives to interfere in our elections last fall.

Britain's ruling class is our enemy (and the enemy of their own people), not Russia. The same inbred parasite families run Britain today since the 1820s.

I really questioned this whole thing from the beginning. It is like all Western leaders had ZERO knowledge of history. It was all dependent on sanctions with no military Plan B. Had someone been in charge with any knowledge of what happened the last time, they would have taken the settlement proposed in Istanbul or the earlier Minsk agreements.

If the West was hoping for any chance of success they would need to lead their countries into this again. Ursula von der Leyen, Annalena Baerbock, Kaja Kallas, Victoria Nuland and an incapacitated Joe Biden?

3 Hours of Facts About WW2's Eastern Front

A Somber Realization in Battlefields of Bones

"The searchers know where many of them are — broken skeletons lie scattered on the forest floor, or piled in trenches no one has time to sift. And time is what it takes. In much of the world, the casualties of World War II lie under rows of neat white military crosses, but here in Russia, millions still lie where they fell."

<https://www.latimes.com/archives/la-xpm-2005-may-07-fg-bodies7-story.html>

While Putin and Xi etal were rebuilding their countries over the last 25 years, the Western leaders were in the process of destroying theirs.

President Trump is probably the first real leader to emerge out of the West in eighty years.

The west has totally abandoned the goal of winning wars. They are eager to fight wars for dubious if not outright evil intentions, but they no longer consider how to win a war.

Why..because trillions of dollars are found IN FIGHTING WARS!

The will sacrifice their mothers to keep this gravy train rolling.

We have produced the most incompetent ruling class. I agree about Trump, if what we see is real, it's the 2nd American Revolution, just in time.

There is a hill in Volgograd (modern Stalingrad) named Mameav Kurgan, with the remains of about a million Soviet and Fascist invaders buried. It has a heavy and deep aura or feeling, indescribable in words. The people have never forgotten those dark days.

Seeing Leopard and Western tanks marked with Iron Crosses in Kursk did more to unify the public than anything we could have done to create consensus to defeat the Kiev regime and distrust our country. Collasal stupidity.

/Seeing Leopard and Western tanks marked with Iron Crosses in Kursk/

If you get on Google Earth, if you have a good enough eye, you can still see the lines and fortifications from the Second World War in the present area they are fighting in around Kursk. So the sons and grandson's of the Great Patriotic War are fighting over the same land their fathers and grandfathers fought to liberate from the Germans. Also, it is sometimes reported in the Russian media telegram channels that the soldiers fighting this war occasionally find relics and bodies from the GPW when they are digging lines and fortifications.

Ukrainians looking for missing troops are finding Nazi bullets, World War II-era trenches, and the bones of German soldiers on the battlefield

Already, the group has found more than 200 bodies from World War II, sometimes in the same trenches where the fighting is happening now, according to the outlet.

"When you dig into a trench, you find a trench from World War II," director Leonid Ignatiev told the Times.

The Black Sea fleet is intact and was moved out of the way of British operated sea drones directed by our ISR assets and serves as missile launching platforms.

Russia is primarily a land force, as their history is to protect their homeland, from threats both from the west and east, not attempt to maintain overseas colonies to exploit like we currently do and the British previously engaged in.

That said, we have no response to their hypersonic missiles. Our multi billion dollar aircraft carriers with their woke crews and incompetent officers are fat targets for one hundred thousand dollar missiles.

On the offensive they are achieving a remarkable 1:10 casualty rate in their favor. Normally it's a rule of thumb for the attacker at 3:1. Our general staff who had been planning and commanding the Ukraine Army at the strategic level have shown utter incompetence in executing a real war.

Undeniably true. The idea that we would attempt to launch a sea borne offensive against the Chinese mainland from the ocean is insanity.

Concentrating personnel and weapon systems on the island of Formosa is simply placing a force to be isolated and annihilated in place.

Not to mention devastating the infrastructure and population of Taiwan. It would become a smoking ruins, as we have caused to Ukraine.

The Russians mass produce micro chips for the most advanced weapons, and we can't design and produce what we need at home?

This breathless “reveal” is distinctly uninteresting. I think everyone knows the West has been supporting Ukraine and that without that support it would have been overrun. More interesting is why Trump is parroting Russian talking points and giving Russia (the invader) everything it wants. That’s far more exciting than the non-news the West has been backing Ukraine.

0 Reply

pfed March 6, 2025 9:51 pm

Russia’s attack on Ukraine was unprovoked, and the U.S. had no intention of fighting a proxy war. Indeed, Biden offered Zelensky a ride out of Kyiv at the start of the full-scale invasion. The question is why Ukrainians fought from day one and continue to fight. It wasn’t to create a buffer because Ukraine has none with Russia. It has instead been a fight for Ukrainian culture, political system, markets, ports, resources, children and justice; in a word – liberty. At a distance, liberty is but an ideal, but it is a life and death struggle for those who risk losing it to an invader. We Americans implicitly understand that. It is not in the interest of our security and prosperity to allow Russia to victoriously align with China, North Korea and Iran. They support Moscow because they do not wish America well. Also, if we lose the world’s trust, it loses trust in the full faith and credit of the United States. The attendant loss of confidence in U.S. bonds and the dollar could devastate our economy. Stand with Ukraine!

Yeah, right. America provoked millions of Ukrainians to freeze their butts off for three winter months, protesting their president’s decision to accept a 13-billion dollar bribe from Moscow to renege on his pledge to sign a cooperation agreement with the EU. And then Yanukovich fled Kyiv, though he had agreed to a negotiated settlement of the Maidan protest, which he tried to disperse through deadly force. Ukrainian democracy and trade with Europe poses a threat not to Russia, but to Kremlin autocrats who fear Ukraine’s example might appeal to ordinary Russians and undermine the Putin’s repressive stranglehold on power.
